

Litigator sings "Let 'Em Sue," and other lawyers' songs of holiday cheer. When he's not defending products liability cases, Lawrence Savell, of New York City's Chadbourne and Parke, likes to sing. He has a long-standing holiday tradition of letting recordings of his music serve as his Christmas greetings, which he passes on to friends, relatives, clients, and people he meets on airplanes. He continues that tradition this year with a CD of holiday songs about the practice, including "Let Em Sue," and "It's Gonna Be a Billable Christmas." Information about obtaining Savell's holiday album can be obtained at his web site at www.lawrencesavell.com. Lawrence Savell, "The Lawyer's Holiday Humor Album" (New York, 1998).

LEGAL BUSINESS 🏠 HUMOR